

MADE IN DETROIT

After the rise of Henry Ford's Model T, the Detroit automotive industry became the backbone of the US economy. Today, the industry's extensive network of logistical assets ensures effortless movement of automotive components around the world. GTM's Michigan headquarters, within easy reach of major population centers, offers the infrastructure needed to transport products wherever they need to go.

In today's international automotive marketplace, having a consistent logistics supply chain is essential. Moreover, the costs to expedite logistics and international delivery weigh heavily upon an organization's bottom line. Lacking the right logistics partner can halt production lines and impact your company's finances. For automotive logistics buyers, cost-effective, high product visibility, supply chain management is key.

At GTM, we believe that picking up and delivering the right parts, at the right time, to the right destination is the only way to do business. As a global logistics provider, we offer premium partners and worldwide carriers that ensure your parts are properly packed, loaded, and shipped to meet your exact lean manufacturing needs.

DESHLER GROUP COLLABORATION

GTM is the logistics arm of Deshler Group, a powerhouse assembly of companies aligned to create complete customer solutions. Whether you need manufacturing, warehousing, assembly, transportation, or supply chain management, Deshler offers our clients a broad selection of services to enhance any automotive shipment project.

Our partner Feblo International has successfully managed auto service parts distribution programs and project planning. AMI, our information technology affiliate, supports specialized parts management and recall services for Ford and GM.

GTM's customers are multinational, and we are committed to reflecting this diversity ourselves. GS3, our multiple award-winning affiliate, exceeds this goal. A rapidly growing woman- and minority-owned company, GS3 has been recognized as minority supplier of the year and its CEO, Lisa Lunsford, is one of Crain's Automotive News 100 Leading Women in Automotive. GS3's integrated services range from supply chain management to parts assembly for major automakers.

Our Michigan-based executive team includes Mark Brodie, Founder, Co-Owner and Managing Member of GTM; Robert Gruschow, President of Deshler Group; and Lisa Lunsford, CEO of GS3 Global.

INTERNATIONAL NETWORK

GTM is a premium international logistics provider closely aligned with similar independent freight forwarders. Our mutual goal is to match top quality transportation providers with all of your logistics and supply chain needs, no matter how complex or urgent.

The Elite Global Logistics Network (EGLN) includes more than 200 highly qualified, financially sound, independent companies that cover more than 100 countries with a combined staff of 20,000 and growing.

Our global network is focused on exceeding the lean needs of the automotive industry. Together, we offer service comparable to any multinational freight forwarder.

KEY GLOBAL PARTNERSHIPS

To directly service GTM automotive customers, we've built a targeted group of international partnerships. We jointly developed a comprehensive, global door-to-door product, drawing upon our individual service offerings and assets, including our trucking fleet, customs clearance expertise, and large contracts with key international ocean and air carriers.
